THE MAGIC SWAN GEESE

A Classic Folk Tale on Responsibility, Humility, and Winning Allies in Crisis

✦ Foreword by Zinaida Jupiter, DBA ✦

Dear Reader—both Young and Grown-Up! Every classic fairy tale holds two golden keys: one for a child discovering the rules of kindness and courage, and one for parents building a warm, resilient family home.

How to Read This Book as a Family (3 Steps in 15 Minutes):
1. Pages 2–6: Read the five illustrated story sheets aloud and trace how each choice changes the heroes' path.
2. Pages 7–9: Discuss the Three Questions, play the interactive "Three Roads" game, and seal the Two Wise Vows.
3. Pages 10–12: Explore the Family Wisdom Matrix (where the winning answer always shines in the Top-Right Quadrant ★!) and the Parent's Guide.

🔑 The Golden Key of the Tale (What to Watch For)

"Haughty pride closes three doors on the road; a humble word and a helping hand turn every neighbour into a shield."

Proverb of the Book: "Haughty pride closes three doors on the road; a humble word and a helping hand turn every neighbour into a shield."

❧ Sheet I. The Parents' Charge and the Forgotten Promise ❧

Before leaving for the town fair, Father and Mother kissed their daughter Masha and said: 'Guard your little brother Vanya in the courtyard, dear—do not wander off!' They promised to bring her a bright kerchief and gingerbread.

Yet no sooner had the wagon disappeared down the road than Masha seated Vanya on the grass under the window and ran off to the end of the street to play games with her friends.

❧ Sheet II. The Shadow of the Swan Geese and the Proud Refusals ❧

Suddenly a flock of white Swan Geese swept down from the clouds, lifted little Vanya on their wide wings, and carried him toward the dark forest! Masha rushed after them in tears.

Along the road she met the glowing Stove, the heavy-laden Apple Tree, and the fragrant Milk River with its Kissel Banks. Each offered help if she tasted their humble fare—yet Masha tossed her head proudly: 'At my father's house we don't even eat wheat cakes, let alone plain rye pie or wild apples!'—and received no direction.

❧ Sheet III. Awakening at the Edge of the Deep Woods ❧

Reaching the forest hut where Vanya sat playing with silver apples, Masha realized that pride and excuses could never save her brother. A kind little Woodland Hedgehog showed her the way—and Masha's heart changed completely.

Gathering Vanya gently into her arms, she began the race home with the Swan Geese circling high overhead.

❧ Sheet IV. Humility and Care Unlock Every Ally on the Road ❧

When the Swan Geese swooped down along the return path, Masha bowed respectfully to the Milk River and tasted its simple dish—and the river sheltered the children beneath its bank. At the Apple Tree she propped up the heavy branches and thanked it warmly—and the green boughs hid them from sight.

At the Stove she gratefully tasted the warm rye pie—and the Stove concealed them safely until the geese flew past.

❧ Sheet V. Safe in Mother's Arms before Sunset ❧

Just as Father and Mother's wagon rolled through the village gate with gifts, Masha and little Vanya stepped out onto the clean porch—safe, united, and wiser for life.

Thus the tale reveals a golden secret: when we own our mistakes immediately and treat every humble helper with respect, the whole world becomes our shield!

"Haughty pride closes three doors on the road; a humble word and a helping hand turn every neighbour into a shield."

THE GOLDEN KEY TO THE TALE

Three Questions for a Warm Conversation with Your Child

✦ Why This Happens in Real Life ✦

“Haughty pride closes three doors on the road; a humble word and a helping hand turn every neighbour into a shield.”

1. Why didn't the Stove, the Apple Tree, and the River help Masha on the way there?

How did saying 'At my father's house we don't eat plain rye pie!' close three doors of help in a row?

2. What changed inside Masha on the way back?

Not only did she ask politely, she also helped prop up the Apple Tree's heavy branches and clear the stream. Why does care open every heart?

3. What should you do if you make a mistake at home?

Hide and blame others, or act immediately like Masha to fix it with courage and kindness?

INTERACTIVE GAME • CHOOSE YOUR PATH

THE GAME OF “THREE ROADS”

Find the Wise Choice Together and Sketch Your Victory!

Imagine This Real-Life Situation:

You promised to tidy the room or look after a pet, got distracted playing, and suddenly realize time is almost up and you need help from your family or friends.

1. Path 1 (Hiding & Blaming Others): Pretend nothing happened and blame the pet or your sibling.

2. Path 2 ('At My Father's House!' Pride): Demand help rudely while looking down on simple advice.

3. ★ Path 3 — The Wise Choice (Masha on the Return Road!): Take responsibility right away, speak with warmth and respect, help others in return, and finish the job together!

❖ Creative Task: Draw the kind Apple Tree sheltering Masha and little Vanya beneath its golden-apple branches!

TWO WISE VOWS OF THE READER

Golden Habits Created by This Tale

✦ First Wise Vow ✦

“Own your duty and fix mistakes immediately”

Courage begins the second you stop making excuses and start acting.

✦ Second Wise Vow ✦

“Respect every honest helper and simple bread”

Gratitude for small kindnesses builds a wall of friends around your family.

MAP OF THE FOUR PATHS

Why the Winning Answer Always Lives in the Top-Right Quadrant (★)

↑ PERSONAL RESPONSIBILITY & ACTION →

Lesson II • Lonely Running in Pride

Trying hard to fix a mistake alone while speaking arrogantly to everyone who could help.

★ SHIELD OF RESPONSIBILITY & KINDNESS

Immediate ownership of duty combined with sincere respect for every helper along the way.

Lesson I • Carelessness & Excuses

Forgetting one's promise and then blaming everyone around when trouble strikes.

Lesson III • Polite Passivity

Speaking sweetly to everyone, yet never taking bold action to rescue the matter.

← Arrogance ('Plain Rye Pie!') HUMILITY & RESPECT FOR ALLIES Gratitude & Mutual Care →

✦ How to Show Your Child the Map of Four Paths ✦

Point to the four squares together: when we drop either axis—losing either personal responsibility or warmth toward loved ones—we slip into one of the three traps. Only when both axes reach their peak do we enter the Top-Right Quadrant (★), where the whole family wins!

THREE RULES OF A WARM HOME

Psychological & Pedagogical Guide for Parents

Rule 1. Teach 'Rye Pie Appreciation'

Never allow children to look down on simple food, modest professions, or everyday helpers.

Rule 2. Measure Maturity by Recovery Speed

Everyone makes mistakes; true character is how fast a child shifts from 'I forgot' to 'I am fixing it right now.'

Rule 3. Reciprocity Before Request

Like Masha propping up the Apple Tree's branches, teach children to ask how they can help others.

✦ Why Fairy-Tale Metaphors Work Faster Than Lectures ✦

Direct scolding triggers defensiveness in a child's brain, whereas a shared fairy-tale image turns correction into a friendly smile: one warm reference to the story's heroes resolves tension in seconds!

EVERYDAY TRANSLATION TABLE FOR PARENTS

How to Replace Scolding with the Language of the Tale

Everyday Moment	Common Trap (Quadrants 1–3)	★ Wise Top-Right Response
Child turns up their nose at simple food or a modest gift	Scold them at the table.	"Remember Masha and the Stove's warm rye pie—respecting simple care is what brings big victories!"
Child forgets a chore and panics before parents return	Punish without letting them fix it.	"You caught the mistake in time! Let's switch into Masha's return-road mode and put everything in order together."
Older child complains about helping a younger sibling	Force them with threats.	"Protecting your brother makes you the captain of the home—and we always celebrate captains together!"
