THE FOX AND THE CRANE

A Classic Woodland Fable on True Hospitality, Empathy, and Custom Fit

✦ Foreword by Zinaida Jupiter, DBA ✦

Dear Reader—both Young and Grown-Up! Every classic fairy tale holds two golden keys: one for a child discovering the rules of kindness and courage, and one for parents building a warm, resilient family home.

How to Read This Book as a Family (3 Steps in 15 Minutes):
1. Pages 2–6: Read the five illustrated story sheets aloud and trace how each choice changes the heroes' path.
2. Pages 7–9: Discuss the Three Questions, play the interactive "Three Roads" game, and seal the Two Wise Vows.
3. Pages 10–12: Explore the Family Wisdom Matrix (where the winning answer always shines in the Top-Right Quadrant ★!) and the Parent's Guide.

🔑 The Golden Key of the Tale (What to Watch For)

"A gift served only for yourself is half a mockery; true care prepares the dish that fits your guest."

Proverb of the Book: "A gift served only for yourself is half a mockery; true care prepares the dish that fits your guest."

❧ Sheet I. Warm Friendship and the First Invitation ❧

In a sunny woodland glade, the Fox and the Crane became fast friends. Wishing to celebrate their friendship, the Fox invited the Crane to her cosy burrow for a festive midday dinner: 'Come visit me, dear friend, my dearest guest—I shall treat you to my finest dish!'

Delighted by the warm words, the Crane brushed his feathers, put on his festive waistcoat, and walked cheerfully through the meadow toward the Fox's cottage.

❧ Sheet II. Semolina Porridge on a Flat Porcelain Plate ❧

To welcome her guest, the Fox cooked sweet semolina porridge with golden butter—and spread it in a thin layer across a wide, flat porcelain plate. Setting it on the table, she bowed and said: 'Help yourself, dear friend! I cooked it with my own paws.'

The Crane tapped and tapped with his long, slender beak—knock, knock, knock!—yet could not pick up a single grain from the flat plate, while the Fox licked the dish clean in a minute.

❧ Sheet III. Polite Smiles Over an Empty Stomach ❧

Licking the last drop of porridge from the plate, the Fox smiled sweetly: 'Forgive me, dear friend, I have nothing more to offer you!'

Though the Crane remained hungry after the long walk, he bowed politely and replied: 'Thank you for the invitation, Fox! Tomorrow please come to my house for dinner.'

❧ Sheet IV. Fragrant Okroshka in a Tall Narrow Pitcher ❧

The next day the Crane prepared a rich, fragrant soup with finely diced herbs and served it inside a tall clay pitcher with a very narrow neck. 'Eat heartily, dear friend! Truly, I have nothing else to offer,' said the Crane.

The Fox walked round and round the pitcher: she tried to squeeze her muzzle in, she licked the clay neck, she sniffed the delicious aroma—yet could not reach a single spoonful, while the Crane dipped his long beak inside and ate with ease.

❧ Sheet V. The Table of True Hospitality ❧

In the old fable, the Fox trotted home hungry and their friendship cooled from that day on. Yet wise families and leaders know the secret that saves every partnership: true kindness is serving your guest in the vessel that fits THEM—putting both a deep bowl and a tall pitcher on the same hospitable table!

"A gift served only for yourself is half a mockery; true care prepares the dish that fits your guest."

THE GOLDEN KEY TO THE TALE

Three Questions for a Warm Conversation with Your Child

✦ Why This Happens in Real Life ✦

"A gift served only for yourself is half a mockery; true care prepares the dish that fits your guest."

1. Did the Fox cook bad porridge?

The porridge itself was delicious! Why then did the Crane leave hungry and hurt?

2. Why didn't the Crane's tall pitcher fix the friendship?

When we answer a thoughtless mistake with a mirror-image prank, do we gain a friend or lose one?

3. What does 'True Hospitality' mean at home?

If you want to make your Mom, Dad, or friend happy, should you give them what YOU like, or ask what brings joy to THEM?

THE GAME OF “THREE ROADS”

Find the Wise Choice Together and Sketch Your Victory!

Imagine This Real-Life Situation:

Your younger sibling or a guest comes to play at your house, and you want to choose a game or a snack for both of you.

1. Path 1 (The Fox's Flat Plate): Pick a game only you know how to win and say: 'Play if you can—I have nothing else!'
2. Path 2 (The Crane's Narrow Pitcher): Get back at a friend for yesterday's game by choosing something they cannot reach at all.
3. ★ Path 3 — The Wise Choice (The Table of True Hospitality!): Prepare both a 'flat plate' and a 'tall pitcher'—choose a game and treat where both you and your guest can enjoy every minute together!

❖ Creative Task: Draw the new Festive Table where the Fox and the Crane sit happily together—with a comfortable plate for the Fox and a tall pitcher for the Crane!

TWO WISE VOWS OF THE READER

Golden Habits Created by This Tale

✦ First Wise Vow ✦

“Look through your guest's eyes before setting the table”

Real kindness means caring about how the other person feels, not just showing off.

✦ Second Wise Vow ✦

“Never answer a mistake with a secret prank”

If something feels uncomfortable, speak up kindly right away instead of plotting 'narrow-pitcher' revenge.

MAP OF THE FOUR PATHS

Why the Winning Answer Always Lives in the Top-Right Quadrant (★)

↑ EFFORT & QUALITY OF PREPARATION →

Lesson II • Flat Plate & Narrow Pitcher

Cooking a fine meal, yet serving it in a way the other person cannot enjoy at all.

★ TABLE OF TRUE HOSPITALITY

Generous preparation combined with thoughtful attention to what makes every guest feel welcome.

Lesson I • Empty Table & Indifference

Neither preparing a treat nor caring how the guest feels.

Lesson III • Kind Words Without Preparation

Wishing a friend well in words, but forgetting to prepare anything for their arrival.

✦ How to Show Your Child the Map of Four Paths ✦

Point to the four squares together: when we drop either axis—losing either personal responsibility or warmth toward loved ones—we slip into one of the three traps. Only when both axes reach their peak do we enter the Top-Right Quadrant (★), where the whole family wins!

THREE RULES OF A WARM HOME

Psychological & Pedagogical Guide for Parents

Rule 1. The 'Beak or Muzzle?' Check

Before buying a gift or planning a family Sunday, ask: is this for my comfort, or will the other person truly enjoy it?

Rule 2. Speak Up Gently at the First Meal

Teach children to say politely 'A deep bowl helps me eat better!' instead of going home silently to plan revenge.

Rule 3. Design Family Rituals for Every Age

Make sure both little ones and older family members have their own 'vessel' at the shared table.

✦ Why Fairy-Tale Metaphors Work Faster Than Lectures ✦

Direct scolding triggers defensiveness in a child's brain, whereas a shared fairy-tale image turns correction into a friendly smile: one warm reference to the story's heroes resolves tension in seconds!

EVERYDAY TRANSLATION TABLE FOR PARENTS

How to Replace Scolding with the Language of the Tale

Everyday Moment	Common Trap (Quadrants 1–3)	★ Wise Top-Right Response
Child gives a family member a gift that only the child wants to play with	Laugh or scold them for being selfish.	"That's like the Fox's flat plate! Let's think together what kind of 'pitcher' Grandma truly loves."
Guest child struggles with a difficult board game	Keep winning and bragging.	"A good host makes sure the guest can reach the porridge—let's explain the secret moves or pick a team game!"
Child stays silent when uncomfortable and later acts out	Punish the outburst.	"Next time, tell me right away if the plate feels too flat—we can always change the bowl together!"
