❧ Sheet I. The Blue Sea and the Unconditional Gift ❧

By the shore of the deep blue sea lived an old Fisherman and his wife for thirty years and three. One morning the Fisherman cast his net for the third time and drew up a single fish—yet no ordinary one, but a radiant Golden Fish!

Speaking in a gentle human voice, the Golden Fish pleaded: 'Release me into the blue sea, kind old man—I shall pay whatever ransom your heart desires!' The Fisherman asked for nothing at all: 'Swim freely in your wide sea, Golden Fish!'—and let her go with a pure heart.

❧ Sheet II. The New Wooden Trough and the Sturdy Cottage ❧

When the Fisherman returned home and told the story, his wife scolded him fiercely for not asking even for a new wash-trough to replace their cracked one. The old man walked to the shore; the sea rippled softly, and the Golden Fish gladly granted a brand-new oaken trough.

Yet instead of thanking him, the old woman grew angrier still and demanded a bright timber cottage with a carved porch and brick chimney. Again the Golden Fish rewarded the old man's kindness, and a fine new house stood in the clearing.

❧ Sheet III. From Noblewoman to Queen: The Darkening Storm ❧

Could the old woman rejoice now in warmth and plenty? No—greed and pride swelled inside her like storm clouds! First she demanded to become a high-born Noblewoman in sable furs, driving her own husband to the stables; two weeks later she demanded to become a reigning Tsarina surrounded by guards.

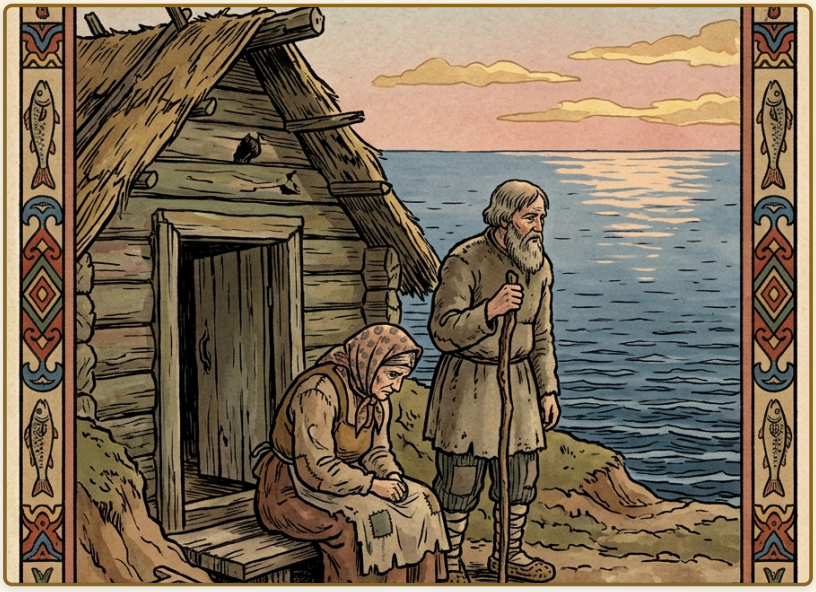

Each time the Fisherman bowed by the shore, the blue sea darkened from green to pitch-black and angry waves battered the rocks—warning that arrogance and ingratitude were crossing every boundary.

❧ Sheet IV. The Ultimate Hubris on the Black Tempestuous Sea ❧

Still the Tsarina found no peace! She sent court messengers to drag the old Fisherman before her and commanded: 'Go back to the Golden Fish! I no longer wish to be a mere Tsarina—I want to be Mistress of the Seas, and the Golden Fish herself must swim at my beck and call as my servant!'

With a heavy heart the old man stood before the roaring black tempest and whispered the mad demand. The Golden Fish looked at him silently, splashed her golden tail across the dark water, and vanished into the deep ocean.

❧ Sheet V. The Broken Trough and the Wisdom of Measure ❧

Returning from the shore, the Fisherman saw neither palace nor guards: before the old earthen hut sat his wife, and in front of her lay the same cracked wooden trough.

Thus the tale shines across centuries: gratitude and a wise sense of measure keep every blessing alive, whereas boundless arrogance and disrespect for those who help us turn even a palace back into splinters!

“Gratitude turns a cottage into a palace; boundless arrogance turns a palace back into a cracked trough.”

THE GOLDEN KEY TO THE TALE

Three Questions for a Warm Conversation with Your Child

✦ Why This Happens in Real Life ✦

“Gratitude turns a cottage into a palace; boundless arrogance turns a palace back into a cracked trough.”

1. Why did the Golden Fish gladly give the new trough and the bright cottage at first?

Why is it completely natural to want a warm home and good tools, and what was missing in the old woman's heart when she received them?

2. How did the sea warn the Fisherman that things were going wrong?

Notice how the water changed from calm blue to stormy black. What are the 'storm waves' in a family when someone starts demanding and shouting?

3. Why did everything disappear at the last wish?

What is the difference between growing step by step with gratitude versus wanting to command everyone like a servant?

THE GAME OF “THREE ROADS”

Find the Wise Choice Together and Sketch Your Victory!

Imagine This Real-Life Situation:

Your parents bought you a wonderful new book or toy you asked for, and five minutes later you see an even bigger set in the shop window.

1. Path 1 (The Angry Noblewoman): Throw down the gift you just received, stamp your feet, and demand the bigger one right now!
2. Path 2 (Silent Pouting): Refuse to say thank you and sit with a grumpy face all evening.
3. ★ Path 3 — The Wise Choice (Gratitude & Measure!): Hug your parents warmly, enjoy your new treasure to the fullest, and save up or work patiently toward future dreams!

❖ Creative Task: Draw the radiant Golden Fish rising above the sparkling blue waves while the kind Fisherman waves to her from the sunny shore!

TWO WISE VOWS OF THE READER

Golden Habits Created by This Tale

✦ First Wise Vow ✦

“Say a heartfelt 'Thank you!' before asking for the next step”

Joy grows only in a heart that notices and treasures the gifts it already holds.

✦ Second Wise Vow ✦

“Never treat helpers or loved ones like servants”

The moment pride makes someone shout at family and friends, the 'sea' turns stormy.

Lesson II • Stormy Sea & Broken Trough

Ever-growing demands without a single 'thank you,' ending in the loss of every blessing.

★ HARMONY OF ABUNDANCE & GRATITUDE

Improving our home and life step by step while treasuring each gift and respecting every helper.

Lesson I • Grumbling by the Cracked Trough

Living in disorder and blaming others without lifting a finger to repair what is broken.

Lesson III • Fear of Asking for Help

Being kind and gentle, yet afraid to replace even a broken trough when help is offered.

✦ How to Show Your Child the Map of Four Paths ✦

Point to the four squares together: when we drop either axis—losing either personal responsibility or warmth toward loved ones—we slip into one of the three traps. Only when both axes reach their peak do we enter the Top-Right Quadrant (★), where the whole family wins!

THREE RULES OF A WARM HOME

Psychological & Pedagogical Guide for Parents

Rule 1. Gratitude First, Next Wish Second

Never discuss a new purchase or upgrade until the family has genuinely appreciated and cared for what was already given.

Rule 2. Healthy Boundaries Against Tantrums

Unlike the submissive Fisherman, loving parents say a calm, firm 'No' the moment a request turns into a rude command.

Rule 3. Watch the Colour of the Sea

If voices in the house grow sharp and demanding, pause immediately and restore mutual respect.

✦ Why Fairy-Tale Metaphors Work Faster Than Lectures ✦

Direct scolding triggers defensiveness in a child's brain, whereas a shared fairy-tale image turns correction into a friendly smile: one warm reference to the story's heroes resolves tension in seconds!

EVERYDAY TRANSLATION TABLE FOR PARENTS

How to Replace Scolding with the Language of the Tale

Everyday Moment	Common Trap (Quadrants 1–3)	★ Wise Top-Right Response
Child receives a gift and immediately demands 'What else did you buy me?'	Buy another toy to stop the whining.	Pause calmly: “Let's keep the sea blue and sunny—first let's enjoy and thank for this treasure!”
Child speaks bossily to grandparents or parents	Appease them like the old Fisherman.	Set a kind, unshakable boundary: “In our family no one is a servant; ask with respect and warmth.”
Adult feels afraid to say 'no' to unreasonable demands at home	Give in repeatedly until resentment explodes.	Remember that healthy boundaries protect the whole family from the 'broken trough.'
